NORWAY AND VICINITY.
No Steamboat Service.
Steamer Pennesseewassee discontinued running Saturday. The reason is the obstruction of the channel below the bridge with logs, making it impossible to get through. A few days' trial proved that it was useless to run from the bridge only, as practically no one would patronize the boat. The people up the lake meanwhile are reduced to the use of small boats and teams to get to the village.
Pythian Time at Auburn.
Grand Chancellor M. L. Kimball has been in Lewiston this week, arranging for a Pythian day to be held at Auburn and Lewiston August 17. It will be a state day under the charge of the Grand officers and the five Lodges of Auburn and Lewiston.
The occasion will be a visit to Maine of the Supreme Chancellor, Hon. Charles E. Shively of Richmond, Ind. The afternoon exercises will be at Lake Grove, Lake Auburn, consisting of address by the Supreme Chancellor and a vaudeville show. A dinner will be partaken of, there. In the evening in Lewiston city hall will be a reception to the Supreme Chancellor and a concert by Lewiston Brigade Band.
The crossing on Danforth street at Rigdon's store has been raised several inches.
The presentation of Nan, the Mascotte, which will be given at Norway Opera House, this Thursday and Friday evenings, will be one of the best home talent acts ever put on here, and one that is worthy the patronage of the show loving public. It was the privilege of a representative of the paper to witness a rehearsal of the play and thus get a good idea of the play and the way it will be presented. The play is a strong one, each act being full of dramatic situations, and very interesting. There is a vein of comedy, which in some acts is very marked and allows some local applications which are pertinent.
List of characters comprise a list of talent well fitted for the parts they take, in most cases thoroughly so. The seats have met with generous sale and all indications point to a very successful entertainment.

Death of Geo. W. Chaney.

Mr. Chaney, who had been sick with a cancerous growth at the corner of the head, died Friday evening, at quarter past ten. He had been operated upon twice for the trouble, once shortly after his discovery and again at the Maine General Hospital at Portland in March. Neither operation gave help and he continued in intense suffering to the end.
He was well known in Norway, having for many years worked at the trade of painter, paper hanger and interior decorator, and was an excellent workman. His services being in constant demand. He had a large number of friends here who unite with his family in mourning his loss.
George William Chaney was a native of Portland and was 62 years of age. After finishing school he shipped on a vessel and for years followed the sea in coasting and deep water vessels. He served three years as a seaman in the navy during the Civil war, and was on the blockading fleet. He was in the attack on Charleston, S. C., in 1864, the ship he was on being sunk in the attack.
After leaving the navy he again was in the merchant service a few years, then left the sea, learned the painting and decorating trade in Portland and came to Norway.
He married Mrs. Annie E. Merritt of Vinahaven, who survives him, and there are two children, Roy Laforest and Berthe S.
Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the house, Rev. E. S. the Baptist church officiating. There was a large attendance of neighbors and friends and the floral tributes were most beautiful. The interment was at Riverside Cemetery, South Paris.

Base Ball.

Harrison met defeat at the hands of the Radcliffe, Saturday, on the Fair Grounds to the score of 10 to 1.
The visitors had their crack pitcher, Towne, in the box, and the home team had no trouble in getting in eleven safe hits with a total of 12 off his delivery, while Day held his opponents down to three little singles.
The Harrison men touched their errors in the fifth and sixth innings, and these with seven hits by the locals netted 10 runs. Jordan was the principal offender for Harrison, making three errors in succession in the sixth inning.
Harrison was presented with a score in the eighth on two errors and a passed ball.
This game was Harrison's second defeat in ten games played this season.
The features of the game were Lowie's batting, four hits in many times up, and a fine jumping one-hand catch by Bridges off Stuart, in the seventh inning with two men on base and two out, and McDaniels' throw to Lowell that caught Cole's capping off third base in the second inning.
The same teams will play on the Fair Grounds next Saturday.
McDaniels has signed with Nashua and left Monday to join that team.

DANGEROUS GERMS IN SUMMER.

Strengthen the Stomach With Mito-na and keep well.

A wealthy philanthropist in New York spends thousands of dollars every summer providing milk for the babies, with the result that the mortality is greatly decreased. He appreciates the fact that disease germs are common in the summer and that the stomach must be kept healthy to resist their attacks.

Older people do not live on a milk diet to insure health, but they can so strengthen the stomach and digestive organs by the use of Mito-na that they too will be free from sickness in the summer season.

Take a Mito-na tablet before each meal and it will soothe and heal any inflammation that may be present in the lining of the stomach, give tone and strength to the whole digestive system, and act in a naturally and easily digestible form. It is the only remedy known that cures indigestion and stomach troubles by strengthening the digestive system. It is guaranteed to give complete and permanent cure in all cases of the stomach excepting cholera.

It restores complete health to the digestive system, cures headaches, backache, sleeplessness, pains and distention, over eating, vertigo, heart burn, and all general debility which result from weak stomach and imperfect digestion.

A guarantee to refund the money if Mito-na does not show help, given in 10 days. No cent cost. Ask Noyes Drug Store to show you the guarantee.

Glimpses of Thought.

Immortality of Horses.

In regard to the immortality of horses many passages in the Bible would seem to favor it. Take, for instance, the following from 2d Kings, chapter 6th, verses 15, 16 and 17—
"And when the servant of the man of God was risen early and gone forth, behold an host encompassed the city both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do?
"And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them."
"And Elisea prayed, and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and behold the mountains were full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisea."

God Isn't Deaf.
"During a Southern tour," said John D. Rockefeller, Jr., "I attended church one Sunday morning in a quaint little wooden meeting house, where the pews were of unpainted pine boards."
"The minister was a good man, a sincere man, a really eloquent man; but he had contracted somewhere an unfortunate habit of following. He bellowed like a bull. His voice shook the rafters. The sound overwhelmed the sense, and it was often impossible, for very noise, to get at the man's meaning."
"He was especially loud during the prayer. I never heard such an uproar as filled the little building while this Southern minister prayed. After he was through, the lady on my left gave a sigh of relief, and I heard her whisper to her father."
"Father, don't you think that if he lived nearer to God he wouldn't have to talk so loud?"

A Hebrew Legend.
"You teach," said the Emperor Trajan to a famous rabbi, "that your God is everywhere, and boast that he resides among your nation. I should like to see him."
"God's presence is indeed everywhere," the rabbi replied; but he cannot be seen, for no mortal eye can look upon his splendor.
The emperor had the obstinacy of power, and persisted in his demand. "Well," answered the rabbi, "suppose we begin by endeavoring to gaze at the eyes of our ambassadors."
Trajan assented; and the rabbi, leading him into the garden, where it was noon of the day, bade him raise his eyes to the sun, then shining down upon the world in his meridian of glory. The emperor made the attempt, but relinquished it. "I cannot," he said, "the light dazzles me."
"If, then," rejoined the triumphant rabbi, "thou art unable to endure the light of one of his creatures, how canst thou expect to behold the unclouded glory of the Creator?"

Indian Summer.
My experience of life has been that the great happiness and sense of blessing belong to middle age. It is the youth as it ought to be. We see it stripped of youth's unreasonable sorrow and illuminated by the light of its eternal typification; we remember little things that seemed trivial when we were really young—and humorous suggestions of the tragedies of our early days. Middle life straightens out for us the puzzles of youth, and old age soothes the broken ambitions of our working years. Can we doubt that another stage of existence follows in which all is disclosed—the secrets for which "eager life has sought in vain?"

Lead a Cow and Get Well.
A wife and mother who had slaved for fifty years for a large family went to the doctor collapsed almost with nervous prostration. She was ready and excited of taking a pack of drugs. Instead the doctor told her to go home and begin the next morning to lead her pet cow to grass, to take with her some very dry hard bread, stay all day in the woods with the cow, eating only the bread and chewing it well. He told her to listen to the birds in the woods, to notice the squirrels and watch the ants. But she was not to take any sewing or knitting along and somebody else would have to cook.
A year after, the doctor saw a woman coming along the lane to his office leading a half grown calf. The woman's step was spry, she had good color in her face, and when she came to his door and spoke to him her voice was "strong and sweet."
"Doctor," she said, "you see I am quite well, and I've brought Spot's calf to give you as a free-will offering like they used to do in the Bible when the people got cured. God bless you."

Martha H. Brigham.
Mrs. Martha H. Brigham, wife of Thomas S. Brigham, Esq., aged 88 years, died Friday morning after a painful illness of nearly five months. Her disease was a chronic stomach trouble, brought to a crisis by an attack of grippe last winter. She has since been a constant sufferer, but has made a patient, heroic struggle for life. Mrs. Brigham was a native of Rumford, Falls, and was a daughter of the late Hon. James H. Farnum. In 1859 she married Thomas S. Brigham, becoming his faithful helpmate during the early years of his law practice in various parts of the State, but most of her married life has been passed in Buckfield, where for years the family has resided in the old Dr. Brigham-mansion on the Hill.
She leaves two children, Harold who holds a responsible position on the Atchison and Santa Fe railroad, and Lucretia Bell, wife of Henry H. Nutty, proprietor of Hotel Long, and superintendent of the plant of the Portland Packing Co., at this place.

Pratt, and daughter of Lovell and Joseph Penley, who were among the first settlers of Paris and he was a soldier in the war of 1812. A visit to Riverside cemetery found their graves side by side with these words, "Lovina, wife of Joseph Penley, died Feb. 18, 1859."

Dearest mother thou hast left us, Thou hast trod the way of earth, Thou hast left thy mourning children Deeply do we feel thy loss; But our mother we will meet thee In that happy land above, Where all is peace and happiness, And all is joy and love.

Joseph Penley died May 17, 1865, aged 72 years. Mrs. Pratt has recently had a headstone set at her father's grave. Mrs. Pratt will soon get her pension, which she has been long waiting for, by which she will be able, it is hoped, to secure for herself a pleasant home.

Brown, died in Virginia, in service of his country, Jan. 16, 1854, aged 27 years, 11 months. Whenever we see a flag floating over a soldier's grave we remember these words:

They are sleeping, calmly sleeping, Naught disturbs their peaceful rest; Then for them we'll not be weeping, For they march among the blessed.

We returned by the way of West Paris and Greenwood, where we met many former pupils with whom a pleasant chat ensued, as it has been the pleasure of the writer to teach school in every district from West Paris to Middle Intervale, Bethel, where she resides.

Mrs. Alanson Briggs

In her early years she resided at Mechanic Falls, but since the death of her husband, made her home with Mrs. Pettengill. ## Buried by Logs

Stephen Robar was killed at Rumford Falls. He had been at work on the logs at the Canal bank. He had finished his lunch and moved to a shady spot in lee of a pile of logs, suddenly they started to roll and he was caught underneath the pile, probably being killed instantly as the body when recovered at 3 o'clock was horribly mutilated and bruised. He was a German native of Nova Scotia, 45 years of age and unmarried. He owned a home on the Swain river road. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, conducted by Mr. McGay of the Episcopal church, at the grave in Sunnyside cemetery. Some 20 or 25 of the river men were present in a body.

A Gem of Great Value

One of the few gems of great value in this world about which cannot be woven a tale of bloodshed and strife is that which has been recently purchased by Prince Henry of Prussia from a Chicago jeweler for the sum of $80,000. It is a product of the rugged hills of Maine, and about its finding and passage through different hands is a story of a simple truth far more interesting than the grim tragedies that form the history of stones of similar nature. It raised its discoverer from the slough of poverty to considerable wealth, and then launched him back into the former dire state all within a few hours. This stone, now in the possession of the greatest prince of Germany, was picked up on the road leading from Albany to Bethel, Me., about 20 years ago by Wesley Wright.

Mrs. Julia Holt Noyes, wife of George W. Noyes of Gorham, died at her home in Gorham, N. H., last Thursday morning, after an illness of more than eight months.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Death from the Heat.
Friday noon in Auburn occurred the death of May A. Farrington from apoplexy induced by the hot spell. She was taken ill Thursday afternoon in the Dingley-Poss factory, where she was employed, became unconscious and was taken home in that condition. After several hours she regained consciousness and seemed to improve, but Friday morning she began to fail and died.

She was a native of Brunswick and 35 years of age. With her mother, Mrs. Eunice Farrington, she lived the greater portion of her life at North Waterford in a house owned by them. They lived a year or more in Norway about three years ago in the rent over Cook's Barber shop and Miss Farrington worked in the shoe factory. They made many friends during their stay here.

Funeral services were at Auburn, Sunday at 2 p. m., Rev. Fred M. French officiating. Burial was at North Waterford, Monday.

A Chapter of Accidents.
The picnic of Mount Hope Rebekeh Lodge, I. O. O. F., was held last Thursday afternoon, and those who attended had a very pleasant time indeed. Capt. Crommett placed Robinhood cottage at their disposal and every facility for enjoyment was given. There were only a few who attended, some twenty-five in all, due to causes beyond their control, and that there was any picnic at all is due to the courage of the few.

Sometime Thursday morning, the boom of C. B. Cummings' Sons broke, scattering saw logs over the lower channel, and preventing the steamer from going below the bridge.

Arrangements were made to start from the bridge and at 2 and 6 o'clock some of the party went up, a barge running from the village to the bridge. The barge took a large lumber to the bridge for the 8 o'clock special, which owing to a break down was unable to run. The party got back by being rowed to the main land and walking home.

Elmer Abbott of Berlin, N. H., was in Norway, the past week.
Harriet Millett spent the Sabbath at Will Young's "up in town."

Mrs. John Abbott of Lynn, Mass., has been visiting Mrs. W. A. Lewis.
May Thibodeau has gone to Bar Harbor to work in a telephone office.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Harding of Brown are spending their vacation at Will Young's.

The thermometer stood at 79 in two places in the village at 2.30, Friday morning.
J. M. Palmer, E. L. Cowan and Dr. E. A. Sheehy spent the Sabbath at Old Orchard.

An earthquake shock was distinctly noticed by many of our townspeople, Saturday morning, at 5.10.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Orin Smith of Presque Isle visited Mr. Smith's sister, Edith Smith, the past week.

Mrs. Myrtle Stanley of Norway recently has been the guest of John E. and Ethel Saunders at Mechanic Falls.
Horace Sanborn of Portland has been in the village the past week. As is his custom he has been haying down on Fore street.

Winfield A. Kimball and G. Frank Barron have passed the examination without conditions for admission to Bowdoin college.

Mrs. A. Thompson came Thursday and Maude Thompson on Monday to open their cottage on Rock Island. Dr. Thompson is expected this week.

T. L. Heath was at Allen Pond, Stoneham, July 7 and 8, fishing. He had good luck on the trout securing 10 that dressed two pounds each.

Registered at the Seal's Hotel last Thursday were Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, daughter of the late Gen. U. S. Grant; her daughter, Miss Sartoris of Washington, D. C.; Miss Lord and Miss Peterson, of Boston; Miss Jangle of Germany and E. H. Jones of Chicago. The party arrived from Poland Spring in a four-seated automobile, and after dinner at the Seal's went to Paris Hill. It was Mrs. Sartoris' first visit in Norway.

While waiting for a train Wednesday, last week, at Waterville, to take him to his home in Springfield, W. L. Scribner, one of the Maine prison inspectors, was overcome by the heat. He became temporarily delirious and wandered about the railroad yard for some time before attracting attention. He was taken to the home of a friend and given proper treatment. Mr. Scribner is a brother of Mrs. O. N. Bradbury, and frequently visits in Norway.

Explains Cause of Earthquake.
Prof. Lee of Bowdoin College, who is State geologist, said this morning that the earthquake took the form of a large oval with a long axis from Bangor to York and the center of it was undoubtedly around Waterville. The tremulous agitation, said he, passed from East to West and was between 7 and 10 seconds duration. Prof. Lee said further that the cause of it was very likely the slipping of rock on the side of a fissure at some considerable depth, probably two or three miles, as a result of a long continued strain. The heat of the past week very likely might have increased the strain upon the huge rocks that fell. Again it is not impossible that an explosion may have caused the same result. While there is no instrument at Bowdoin for registering the strength and velocity of the concussion, Prof. Lee regarded the waves as slight.

GREENWOOD.

Hayrack Ride and Picnic.

Edna Curtis, teacher of the Tabbs school, and her pupils with a few friends, went on picnic to Snow's Falls, in a hayrack drawn by a span of pretty horses. Mr. Hammond's grove, the one in which the picnic was held, is near the river, so that boat rides of about a mile in distance was among the enjoyable.

Harvey Corbett is doing chores for his uncle, Alton Day.
Frank Ring has purchased a fine work-horse for haying.

Clinton Cole is not gaining as fast as his friends would wish.

John Ring and Will Yates are again seen on the road this summer, hauling lumber from Willis' camp to the village.
Every body required a doctor to stop at her home in Portland on account of the illness of her son Charlie, who has been very sick with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Maud Coburn and children, while alone Tuesday evening, were scared by the sound of a gun, and they should the second attempt to open the door. Investigations were made about half an hour afterwards, but no one to be seen.

SOUTH CONWAY, N. H.

Strong Tonic.

Quite a peculiar case happened the 4th to Jesse Meader, a young man who works at Center Conway. He went into H. H. Burbank's store and got a bottle of tonic, went to take the top off, and the bottle bursted and out of some of the arteries in his head, so he bit his finger and got the glass out of his wrist. The doctor could not get all the pieces out that night. He is still lame with it.

Charlie Atherton, who is working in Portland was at home one day lately.
Mrs. S. C. Hatch has been to Ossipee to see her brother, James French, who was very sick.

Daniel French of Limerick was lately visiting his brother William and sister, Mrs. S. C. Hatch; also Andrew Brown of East Conway, was lately in the place, visiting friends.

George Dennett of Center Conway died July 2nd. He leaves a wife and four children. He was a nice young man and liked by all. His father is J. A. Dennett, of Brownfield.

Henry Hall, who is night watchman at the shoe factory at Cotton's Mills, had an unwelcome visitor Fourth of July night. It was a big water snake, three and a half feet long. He killed it.

Andrew Cole and family and mother were called to Conway the 14th to attend the niece's, Georgie Cole's, funeral. Miss Cole was F. G. Cole's oldest daughter. She has been a great sufferer, and was ready and longed to be at rest.

L. H. Davis and wife, of Lynn, with several guests, came here to their summer home on July the 1st, and four from Lowell, came to L. D. Mills' board; also three Mr. Youngs. Walter Brown and wife of Lynn are here at his father's.

Mark E. Davis, a teacher, and Charles were in the grain and flour business before going to Brattleboro. They went to the latter town in 1885, opening a small retail store with a branch at Belows Falls.

SILENT INFLUENCE.

"Did you ever stop to think of the manner and extent of your influence upon the people with whom you come in contact?"
"My influence?" someone may exclaim; "why my life is too insignificant even to be noticed, much less invited."

Are you sure of this? Influence is a subtle thing; we can feel neither its coming nor its going. We awake some morning with renewed strength for our daily task. We have been fretting beneath our burden. We had about made up our mind that our only way out of this state of hardship and trial almost too grievous to be borne. But yesterday we met a woman, brave, cheerful, alert—showing no signs of failure or defeat—a woman beneath whose burden, had it suddenly been lifted to our shoulders, we would instantly have succumbed, saying, "It is too heavy; I cannot possibly endure it." Yet this woman was carrying it, to all outward appearances, as if it were a feather, playing for her splendid courage.

"What heroism is hers, and what a coward I have been!" we exclaim, tears of genuine admiration springing to our eyes. We return to our home and to our burden, strengthened, uplifted, glorified. That woman has inspired us to do a better service, to a higher consecration; and yet she had not ventured her courage or integrity by look or manner that hers was an unusual sacrifice.

"There is no bush so small but casts its shadow," is an old proverb. The inspiration we ourselves have received may in turn be transmitted to others simply through our silent example of patient living; or we may live our life on such a low plane that lives touching ours may be smothered by contact. If we climb, we shall have followers; and if we sink to a lower level we shall have followers. There is always some one ready to imitate our example for good or for evil.

"He always has such a pleasant way of meeting people," a lady remarked of a general who went in and out of a certain church Sunday after Sunday, taking no active part in the affairs of the church, save to give a hand-shake and a pleasant greeting to everyone whom he came in contact with. While, on the other hand, a lady recently declared in a hearing that it made her glum for the day simply to pass Mrs. S. on the street; she looked as if she hated herself and everyone else.

Neither of these people were aware of the impression they were leaving with those whom they met, yet one had diffused sunshine, and the other had cast a shadow over the path of many as they passed along their way.

Found Dead.
Samuel P. Dailey, a barber in Canton was found dead in his shop about 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning, July 12. Death was probably due to heart failure. He was a member of the East grand of Anasagantecook Lodge of Canton.
